GC Steel Ahead of Schedule In Curbing Smoke from Coke

Granite City Steel Co. is ahead of schedule on its more than $4 million program to further control air pollution from its blast furnaces. Since starting blast furnace operations, it was announced today by Donald F. Cairns, vice-president.

Dr. Cairns said a fogging system, which had been installed in operation to reduce smoke from the company's coke quench car, the first such control device installed under the 30-month program.

Approved by the Illinois Pollution Control Board less than a year ago, the program is the result of a legal pollution suit by Granite City Steel and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and Attorney General William J. Scott.

Dr. John J. Roberto, head of air pollution control for the state DEP, said the company's particulate emission levels should be reduced by 90% when all elements of the program are in operation.

The fogging system consists of a series of 14 moutes mounted along the length of the quench car, in which fresh, red-hot metallurgical coke is transported to be cooled under the coke quench car.

Fresh coke, about 1,900 degrees (F.) when pushed from the ovens into the quench car, can burst into flames in contact with the open air.

However, heat of ignition of gases spray down from the new fogging system, reducing the amount of smoke from the incandescent coke.

Other equipment already installed under the PCB program includes a 115-h efficiency bag house cleaning unit on the sinter plant breaker exhaust, baffle system to trap steam-borne contaminants from the coke quench tower, and a bleed-off burner system near the coke quench tower.

All of the devices are working properly, Dr. Cairns said.

He added that work is on schedule on the two main components in the program — a new air-particle removal control system, and a high-efficiency venturi-type scrubber to further reduce emissions from the sinter plant main window.

Major repairs began in February on two of the company's three coke oven batteries, also resulting in reduced emissions. The coke oven repairs, to be completed this fall, are not part of the state-approved pollution control plan.

Emissions control during coke making is acknowledged as the steel industry's most difficult remaining air pollution control problem.

Coke is the fuel used to reducte to reduce iron in blast furnaces. It is produced by the controlled heating of blends of low-sulfur coal in long, narrow ovens without enough air present to rite coal to burn.

The scoring was a round of 49 by Lattimore.

Now counted were scores of 50 by Brad Bickhaus and 57 by Bonsteinthal.

Wild Turkey Hunting Season Set in Four State Counties

Copley News Service

Springfield — The holiday season brings to mind turkeys, so the Illinois Department of Natural Resources has set the dates for the 1973 wild turkey hunting season.

Hunters will be able to hunt the wild gobblers on two separate hunting weekends next year, on April 14, 15, 16 and April 20, 21, 22 and 23 in Alexander, Jackson, Pope and Union Counties.

Applications for turkey hunting licenses will be accepted starting Feb. 12. Conservation Department spokesman warn that any applications received before that date will be returned.

The licenses sell for $3 each, and the fees go to the state Game Commission.

Applications should be sent to the permit office of the Department of Conservation in Springfield.

The mere fact that seasons have been set for wild turkeys in Illinois represents a victory for the conservationists, since the once-plentiful birds had vanished entirely from Illinois early in this century. Their decline was due to overhunting, agriculture, which altered their natural breeding grounds and habitats, and from extensive hunting which largely wiped out what few birds had managed to survive.

Efforts attempts to re-establish flocks were unsuccessful, since birds which had been raised on reserves or game farms were used, and these were too close to being domesticated to be successfully adapt to life in the wild.

Starting about 10 years ago, small groups of live-trapped wild turkeys from Michigan, West Virginia, and Arkansas were brought into the state by air and released in southern

Venice Cagers Lauded by 200 Fans at Basketball Banquet

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

"For years when I would go places and said I was from Venice, I would be asked, 'What is that?'"

"But now, thanks to the tremendous efforts of our high school basketball team, I tell them I am from Venice and now they say, 'Oh yes, you're from Venice, we're in the state championship class last month at Champaign.'

More than 200 persons, including high school and grade school basketball players and parents, school officials and teachers, were on hand for the event last night at a Belleville restaurant.

Seventh and eighth grade girls were introduced by their coach, Ken Perkins. The future Red Devils finished with a 13-4 record and won their conference crown.

Mrs. Mary Donah Seacrest, faculty sponsor of the grade school cheerleader, recognized them for their work during the season.

Mrs. Agatha Ohlendorf, wife of varsity coach and high school cheerleader sponsor, awarded letters to her cheerleaders. Mrs. Ohlendorf said, the benediction.

"I am very proud of the girls this year, they were really good," she said. "Under difficult conditions, but their overall behavior was excellent."

The opening remarks were made by John O. Pier, superintendent of schools, and when he introduced varsity Coach Bill Pier, the crowd rose to their feet in a standing ovation.

"Although we hate to see Bill leave us, we wish him well in the years to come with but one exception. If the teams he coaches in the future should ever play Venice, then we hope he loses gracefully," Pier commented.

Ohlendorf will become the head basketball coach at the new Granite City High School North in the next school year.

He was succeeded by Dwayne Terry, Jim Hall, Dave Weis, Brad Weiss and

Easton. Third places were Ed

Hausen, Paul Muschell, Ken

Kibert, Kevin Hollis, Dwight

Lewis and Haughey.

The Devil coach then presented edified verses to the team.

The invocation was given by the Rev. John O'Connell of St. Mary's Church. Remarks were made by Robert J. Sabin, assistant superintendent of schools; Lewis E. Sabin, high school principal; and Leo Davison, principal of the Department of Education. The Rev. Richard Bailey, a member of the School Board, gave the benediction.

Trevino Recovered, Hitting Sharply Again

By HOWARD HAGEN
Copley News Service

Lee Trevino, the cheerful Chicano of the fairways, was hitting those beautiful, low, slightly fading and hooking iron shots he learned to control so well in the Texas wind.

He was waiting for the television cameras to set up at the Carlton Oaks Country Club in California so he could team up with Jim Higgins to make a few television commercials.

Higgins, probably the best player in the world, was not playing too well. Bill Casper wasn't his stick and Miller Barber wasn't sharp.

"So I had five matches and finished with three wins, one loss and three ties, the loss when Casper and I were beaten on the 18th," Trevino said.

Trevino plans to continue as a professional golfer and may wind up with his second straight Professional Golfers' Association tournament money-winning title. He's taken down $167,000 in the last year, placing second behind leader Jack Nicklaus, N. M.

"I understand Jack isn't going to play much more this year," said Trevino.

He reiterated he'll go back to the Masters in Augusta, Ga., next April, after announcing (1½ years ago) that he would never return to that classic.

Why did he say he wouldn't play there again, and then change his mind?

"I still don't like the course. It's maybe the most wide-open course we play. I like hitting like a driver into the hills. A big hitter like me has a great advantage (at Augusta National). And I just don't understand all those rolls on the greens."

Over to Golf
"But I owe it to golf. I balanced the 'shoulds' against the 'shouldn'ts' and the 'shoulds' won by 9-1."

How have his big year and appendectomy affected his game and the rest of his life?

"I've been busy, of course. I have contracts including golf equipment, hotels, clothing, TV commercials."

"You're a specific something. Like I'd like to be fishing right now. Not deep sea. Out there you get onto one of those whales and you can't straighten your right arm for a few days. I like fly fishing."

Trojans Down Central 6-2, Loses to St. Paul by 3-1

Madison High School's Trojans defeated a St. Louis Central baseball team in their home game Tuesday afternoon, 3-1 to Highland St. Paul on the road Monday. The Trojans are now 2-3 for the season.

Sophomore Kevin Werner was the winning pitcher against Central. Werner gave up four hits and walked eight. John Henke came in from center field in the sixth inning to relieve Werner with the bases loaded and one out. Henke then forced a run, walked one to force a run, and scored. Greer, Madison shortstop, grabbed a hot grounder and threw the Central runner out to retire the side.

Central was held to two hits and made two errors while Madison committed three errors. Greer belted the first four batters of the season for Madison in the first inning with no one on base. The Trojans scored two more runs in the second, one in the third and two in the sixth. Central scored one run in the second and two in the ninth.

The only Trojan run came in the sixth when Carl Turner took first on an error. Fornville singled, Turner then stole third and Ditch singled.

The Trojans will play at Waterloo 4 p.m. Friday and then will host Hillsboro for a double header at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Little League Tryouts Carded

The Nameoki-Pontiac Little League will hold baseball tryouts Saturday at the Nameoki School diamonds.

Session for the minor and major league divisions will be held on the following dates at 10 a.m. for ages 8 through 12. Boys to be eligible should be 8 by Aug. 1 and not 13 before Aug. 1.

Tryouts for the senior division will be at 3 p.m. on the following dates: Aug. 1, 8, 15, 22, Aug. 1 and not 16 until after Aug. 1 are eligible. Boys were asked to bring birth certificates.

Conducting the tryouts will be John Carbone, major-minor manager, and John Slay, senior agent. Managers are needed, they said. Interested parties may call one of the two or Lee Reid, league president, or John Slay, secretary-treasurer.

GC Sophs Down Wood River 4-2

The Granite City High School sophomore baseball team defeated Wood River 4-2 here Tuesday.

Jeff Reiter tripled in the sixth to send Tony Holloway and Gene Logan home for the winning runs.

Dave Harrison hit a two-run double in the fifth frame, scoring Mike Gagich and Dave Wolf.

The local sophomores will play at Belleville West at 4 p.m. Friday.

Bryant to SIUE

Howard Bryant, track star at Granite City High School has received an athletic scholarship to Southern Illinois University at Carbondale for the fall of 1973. He is the son of Mrs. Berndine Bryant.

THROWING OUT FIRST BALL at the Cougar's home game against Winona State last weekend is SIUE President John S. Rendleman to Dean Deane Wiley of the Education Division. It was a strike—naturally.

SIUE Baseball Team Faces 5-Game Weekend

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball team is off to its best start since intercollegiate sports began seven years ago. Coach Roy E. Lee's SIUE baseballers won their first five games of the year, including a twin bill last weekend from a strong Winona State (Minn.) team, 4-2, 4-0.

This weekend the surging Cougars will play five home games in three days, starting with a single-game against Washington State Saturday and a pair of twin bills Saturday and Sunday against Illinois Institute of Technology of Chicago. The Cougars' single game starts at 3 p.m. and the doubleheaders begin at 1 p.m.

Cougar Lee was worried about pitching before the season started and understandably so since the last services of two outstanding right-handers, Granite City's Don Kain and Ron Mitchell of Oldenburg, Ill., and veteran southpaw Steve Malone of Marion.

On the southern spring break trip he found one pitcher who could do his job properly, an uninvited outfielder-infielder Ron Havig of Vaymeyer.

The rest of the mound staff were still question marks, although Friday's winners Stan Hawk and Dale Wilderspin had a good start in Florida.

Hawkins and Wilderspin were impressive in their victories over Winona State as was Cougar hitting and defensive play.

The pair of young sons of walks, the two games a finish by Wilderspin when two were out.

Despite all the rosy developments Roy Lee is worried. His potential "Pete 'n Tillie" Tom Tamm was injured in the leadoff game against Winona and it isn't known yet how long he may be out of action. He led the team last season at the top of the list.

If Tamm is lost for the season it could be a crippling blow to Cougar hopes of returning to the four straight time to the NCAA regional post-season tournament.

M-Men, Faculty In Trojan Game

The Madison High School Student Council will sponsor a faculty-l etterman basketball game at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the school gym.

The game is an annual event held each spring between graduate seniors and members of the faculty. Admission is 25 cents for students in advance or 35 cents at the door and 50 cents for adults.

Coach Larry Graham, who will be the faculty cagers, remained tight-lipped about which faculty will win again this year.

He said, "I think we're going to be growing better with age."

Roger Glasper, coach of the student lettermen, said, "The students are going to win the game easily. His game strategy would be to keep the game pace moving rapidly and wear out the teachers."

Dog Training Restrictions Getting Loud Howls in State

By JOHN MURRAY
CO-OP NEWS SERVICE

Springfield — That loud howling you hear in the background isn't coming from Illinois fox and coon hunts, but from their owners who are barking furious orders to their dogs.

Howling restrictions will probably depend on how much noise is still left in the skin or coat.

Objections to the new restriction have been coming in heavily, Lockart said, and that section of the code is presently under review. Both individuals and clubs have sent letters to requesting a change of the regulation.

Many trainers and club members maintain that the largest number of complaints come from the conservation department to operate a training ground, Lockart said, but they must provide a legal description of the property to township when applying for a permit application. The permit is good for one year.

Dogs can still be trained, even without a live dog as target, Lockart said, and the most important is to have a tame pet such as a raccoon led through the training grounds.

GCHS Trackmen to Blaze Walkathon Trail Sunday

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

If everyone who has received a Walkathon kit joins the parade at 1 p.m. Sunday, there could be up to 3,000 people striding through the Quad Cities to all the March of Dimes, according to Harry Cook, Granite City coordinator of the special project.

In addition to the mayors of Madison, Venice and Granite City, several civic leaders and well-known citizens will converge on the 29th Street side of Wilson Park, near Niedringhaus School, to witness the start of the marathon walk at one o'clock Sunday.

Both the trail ahead of the walkers will be members of the Granite City High School track team led by Howie Bryant, a top senior trackman.

The young athlete is promoted to E-2 rating in his company of 250 men.

Pvt. Ballew is the son of Mrs. Loren M. Elders, 2336 Iowa Street, Lakewood, Colo. He is a 1970 graduate of Granite City High School and attended Junior College prior to his enlistment in the Army National Guard on Oct. 2, 1972.

Visiting the serviceman prior to his graduation were his wife and his in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Broadway, and their son Jimmy of 1002 Grand Ave., Madison.

Those interested in joining the Walkathon still may do so by contacting Cook, at Granite City High School, Mrs. Julia Volesek of Madison or Mrs. Mary Cook of Wilson Park, both of whom are coordinating the program in their respective communities.

Last minute walkers also may sign-up at the starting point Sunday, Cook advised.

Four checkpoints have been arranged, where refreshments will be available to the walkers and walking cards will be issued, the coordinators reported.

The four checking stations, in order of their location on the route of the 10-mile walk, are:

Number One—Granite City. Site of parking area between 20th and 21st Streets, where refreshments will be served by steel firm employees supervised by Robert Edmonds.

Number Two—Madison City Hall, Third Street, arranged by Madison Senior Service Club members and city employees.

Number Three—Venice Recreation Center on Broadway, directed by Morris and Venice veterans.

Number Four—Memorial Park, across from St. Elizabeth Hospital, where hospital personnel will serve refreshments.

Individuals and groups taking part in the Walkathon will be sponsored who pledge to contribute a donation to the March of Dimes for each mile walked by the participant, Cook explained.

Walkers may seek as many sponsors as possible from among relatives, friends, neighbors and business firms.

A mileage per mile can range from 10 cents to $500, Cook explained, noting that several young people have obtained sponsors whose accumulative amounts total more than $200 for the roundtrip 10-mile journey.

Sponsors donate to the fight against birth defects only the amount agreed upon in advance, multiplied by the number of miles achieved during the walking marathon.

After the Walkathon is over, the participant's card is valid and presented to his sponsors who, in turn, donate the amount determined before the project starts.

Walkers were urged by Cook to carry identification cards and March of Dimes dress apparel, especially for the weather, avoid crossing private property and have cards stamped at each checkpoint as proof to their sponsor that the number of miles has been achieved.

March of Dimes officials will be on hand at various points enroute to assist participants, Cook said.

Immediately following the walk, participants are reminded to begin collections from sponsors as soon as possible, sealing the donations and placing it in the night depository box at American National Bank, Nameoki and Fehling roads, the coordinators said.

The Walkathon will take place over the following route:

Start—29th Street to Madison Avenue, west on 29th to 27th Street, east on 27th to Nameoki road, south on Nameoki to East 23rd Street, west on East 23rd to Monroe Street and south on Monroe Street parking lot, between 20th and 21st Streets.

Leave parking lot on 20th Street and proceed to Highway 203 (Edwardsville Road), south to McCambridge Avenue and west on Third Street to Madison City Hall.

Turn on Madison Avenue, along Broadway to Venice Recreation Center, marked as the halfway turn around point.

Return along Broadway and straight north on Madison Avenue to St. Elizabeth Hospital, continuing north on Madison to 27th Street, west on 27th to Benton Street and right on Benton to the concluding point at Wilson Park.

125 COAT MISSING
Mrs. Ronald Sherman, 2365 Angela Drive, reported at 9:15 a.m. Tuesday that her suede coat with a mink collar was missing from the cloak room at Charlie's Restaurant, where it was hanging between 7:15 p.m. and midnight Monday.

CHARGED WITH THEFT
William Rutledge, 21, of Rural Park, Monday, charged a charge of a transit card and a continuity code, both valued at $62, from the Grant City Store. He was released on $25 cash bail.

Four checkpoints have been arranged, where refreshments will be available to the walkers and walking cards will be issued, the coordinators reported.

The four checking stations, in order of their location on the route of the 10-mile walk, are:

Number One—Granite City. Site of parking area between 20th and 21st Streets, where refreshments will be served by steel firm employees supervised by Robert Edmonds.

Number Two—Madison City Hall, Third Street, arranged by Madison Senior Service Club members and city employees.

Number Three—Venice Recreation Center on Broadway, directed by Morris and Venice veterans.

Number Four—Memorial Park, across from St. Elizabeth Hospital, where hospital personnel will serve refreshments.

Individuals and groups taking part in the Walkathon will be sponsored who pledge to contribute a donation to the March of Dimes for each mile walked by the participant, Cook explained.

Walkers may seek as many sponsors as possible from among relatives, friends, neighbors and business firms.

A mileage per mile can range from 10 cents to $500, Cook explained, noting that several young people have obtained sponsors whose accumulative amounts total more than $200 for the roundtrip 10-mile journey.

'Defensive Driving' Course Being Offered

Driver safety is dependent on driver safety is dependent on defensive driving course. The decreased awareness of the edge of traffic laws, and increased expertise in the operation of a motor vehicle, Captain Emil J. Toffant of Madison State Police District, said today. More than 29,500 Illinois drivers are preparing to take for completion of the course which is available through the Illinois State Police.

Captain Toffant said: "The defensive driving course provides knowledge of safe techniques in motor vehicle operation, thereby reducing both accidents and traffic law violations appreciably."

The Illinois Board of Ethics, chaired by Abner J. Mikva yesterday announced it will hold public hearings next week on rules and regulations for financial disclosure by employees of the state government.

The board was established in February by an executive order of Gov. Dan Walker in order to regulate conflicts of interest within the executive branch of government. It will set up procedures for filing statements of financial disclosure by employees of the government.

Charity is a billion-dollar-plus business in Illinois, according to the latest report from Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott's Charitable Trusts and Solicitations Division. Today's report shows there are 5,668 charitable trusts registered in Illinois, with total assets of $1,160,748,159.

A woman legislator warned that "we've only begun to fight," but the federal Equal Rights Amendment was defeated yesterday by the Illinois General Assembly at Edwardsville.

In February, the BHE recommended $28,000 for the BHE. The budget staff recommended that would have reduced the total for the year beginning July 1 to $26,819,015.

The BHE yesterday delayed action on the budget revision for waterworks and the Salvation Army. It also postponed until April 18 a hearing on the proposed budget for the Walker Education Fund.

He also thanked the Walker Education Fund, which would have reduced the total for the year beginning July 1 to $26,819,015.

The House voted 30-69 on passing the E.R.A. without an amendment; this vote was short of the three-fifths support needed for the motion. Representatives then voted the women's rights amendment 95-72, or 12 votes less than required for passage.

The Senate Executive Committee then declined to recommend the amendment for full Senate consideration.

News Notes

Dan Hahn, chairman of the student food service committee at SIUE, is urging students and staff to purchase meat products at SIUE next Tuesday, April 10, in support of national boycott. He said the committee wants to test student response for a day and decide whether to continue the boycott effort.

The plan does not apply to those who need meat for dietary purposes, Hahn said.

G. William Crabb, director of food services at SIUE, said a special menu will be served in the cafeteria and in the University Club next Tuesday. "We will limit meat items to one chicken dish, one fish item and one red meat dish. We also will offer meatless lasagna and other meat substitute dishes."

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has delayed action on a staff proposal which would have cut $1,203,535 from the operating budget previously recommended for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Area Flood Problems Are Easing Slightly

The critical flood situation on Chouteau Island seems somewhat what this morning as sun skies replaced the rain that fell this week. The force of wind and current in the main river would flow in the canal, causing the levees to be eroded.

The danger to Chouteau Island remains, however, as the Granite City Auxiliary Police and the ALERT Club (Affiliated League of Emergency Radio Teams) are assisting on a 24-hour basis, both affiliated with Civil Defense.

The CD units are not only providing radio communication for the emergency teams, but many are also assisting with sandbagging operations, some for as many as 16 hours per day.

Families which are evacuating the island are living with relatives in the Quad-City area and are being assisted by the Salvation Army.

Both the SA and Red Cross are providing food services for workers and the Salvation Army is supplying tons of food to the hundreds of people who have been consumed.

Parents are being asked to contact the principals of their children's schools, however, before sending them to the island to work.

The responses to requests for volunteers has been so great that limits have had to be set by those coordinating the relief efforts.

Children under 16 are being sent home and night work has been limited to adult men. All women and children are being sent home each evening.

Manpower and other equipment have been made available on a 24-hour-per-day basis until the emergency is over.

The Salvation Army in Granite City has had a station wagon on the island since Thursday transporting workers to all levees. The mobile canteen has been serving as a new feeding point for the Chain of Rocks canal since then.

The Corps of Engineers has been working on the canal, and the Army Corps of Engineers has been working on the Chain of Rocks locks to close Tuesday for the first time since it was built. An aluminum protective dam has been built which would stop current in the canal if the river rose more than seven feet.

Legislation Necessary for School Financing Reforms

Reforms in school financing will not be accomplished until legislators are forced to act, according to George C. Ackerlund, professor of education administration at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Ackerlund made the statement while commenting on the United States Supreme Court decision regarding financing of public education.

The SIUE professor said the court decision clearly upholds the fact that it is a responsibility of the state legislatures to provide the methods of school financing.

"The news media, in announcing the decision, stated that the U. S. Supreme Court ruled that it was unconstitutional to use the property tax to support schools," he said. "That was never the issue."

The issue was the method by which the state was using the property tax for school purposes," Ackerlund said.

In an interpretive opinion of the court decision, Ackerlund said, "The decision can be described as correct in one sense or unfortunate in another sense."

"It can easily be argued that the decision was correct because education in the United States is a state function. There is no mention of education anywhere in the U. S. Constitution."

Since education is a state function, there are 50 different and distinct school systems in the U. S.

In each state, authority over educational institutions is in the state legislature. Establishing the public school system and the determination of the policies and laws that govern its operation are legislative matters; they do not fall within the province of courts. This is what the U. S. Supreme Court said."

Ackerlund said that the court agreed that the methods used in some states to finance public education are "tragically in need of revision," but it is said the changes should be made by the various state legislatures because it is a legislative problem—not a judicial one.

"Since the courts have been so often accused of invading the legislative area, it was gratifying to hear that the U. S. Supreme Court refused to become involved in legislation," Ackerlund continued. "It is interesting to note that this was a 5-4 decision, and even the majority agreed with the minority that the system of school finance is not correct. They should be of some assistance to those who are attempting to bring about improvements."

Commenting further, Ackerlund said, "Those who had hoped that the Supreme Court would uphold the Rodriguez (Texas) decision, probably did so out of a feeling of frustration based on the failures of state legislatures to act in this area. They were of the opinion that if the Supreme Court would declare the present system of school finance to be unconstitutional, the legislature would then be compelled to act."

The Supreme Court decision, however sent the problem back to the state legislatures where it rightfully belongs. Had the Supreme Court ruled the pres-

Longer Vacation in Store for GC Students

Granite City public school students will receive an extra week of vacation this summer as the fall term of classes will not begin until Sept. 5, according to a tentative school calendar approved Monday night by the Board of Education.

The first day of school usually starts about a week earlier. The last day of school, however, was extended until June 7, about a week later.

The delay in opening of the new semester will provide more time toward the completion of Granite City High School which is behind its construction schedule due to working conditions caused by inclement weather.

Support Growing for Cable Television

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

Washington — Cable television seems to have reached the stage where people are finally beginning to believe some of the statements made about it by enthusiasts.

Even industry leaders seem to be bowled over by its possibilities.

Raymond P. Shafer, chairman of Teleprompter Corp., a pioneer in the field, says cable TV's future "is so vast that none of us can fully grasp it — and no more than Alexander Graham Bell could vision communications satellites."

Cable TV goes by various names. Sometimes it is called by the acronym CATV; sometimes it is referred to as community antenna TV.

Until recently the concept was regarded as merely a piece of wire for carrying conventional television signals out of the hinterland beyond the reach of direct-line or aerial transmission.

Or sometimes it was thought of as a way to get a clearer picture living in skyscraper jungles, like Manhattan.

Seemingly all of a sudden, cable TV has come of age. The concept is out of the publicity puff stage and into reality.

Today, there are only 640 cable TV systems serving 650,000 subscribers.

Today, the number has grown to more than 2,900 systems reaching at least six million subscribers.

That means 10% of the nation's 60-odd million television homes are on cable, and the prospect is for a whopping 25 million homes to be added over the next dozen years.

Many executives in the industry are predicting that the new technology will come with an upgrading of programming.

Critics of the present television programming format are doubtful that the quality can be raised substantially — but the industry claims that the new cable TV will be much more than just a brighter picture or a "subscription TV" gimmick where you can get championship fights by dropping four quarters in the tube.

Cable TV will include such features, but it will also be capable of providing much more.

"It is hard to name the single most striking advantage of cable television," said one industry executive.

One great advantage, he said, is the fact that whereas over-the-air TV cannot carry more than seven regular channels, the coaxial cable can carry 40.

At present, the legal limit is 16 channels, expandable to 20 channels. But even this number will bring about drastic changes for both the viewer and the communications industry.

For one thing, advertisers will be able to sponsor a program directed at a special audience, small in number but composed of the people most likely to buy the sponsor's product.

For example, a local art supply store might want to reach the amateur and professional artists in the community, but couldn't afford the high cost of spot advertising. A typical show designed to appeal to a large general audience.

Cable TV could present an inexpensive show or series on how to paint with oils, water colors and so forth that only art-oriented viewers would want to watch.

The rest of the viewers would have no complaint because they would have a selection of up to 19 alternative channels to watch at the same time.

Rocket Builders Still Busy Despite Apollo Shutdown

By FRANK MACOMBER

Military-Aerospace Writer
Copley News Service

A few months ago aerospace industry officials were expressing fears that rocket missile production would fall on even harder times once the Apollo manned lunar expeditions came to an end.

Apollo 17 put the cap on man's first conquest of the moon, but predictions that the aerospace industry soon would fall into a deep depression were not realized.

For instance, this year for the first time since 1968 are space sales climbed above the previous year — to $23.5 billion; a 5.9% gain over sales of $22.2 billion in 1971.

Commercial and military aircraft sales rose sharply and the Pentagon bought half a billion worth of missiles this year, half a billion dollars more than in 1971.

Only civilian space hardware sales continued to decline, from $3.2 billion in 1971 to $3 billion this year.

That reflects the fadeout of Apollo with its $25 billion power over a decade and the fact that all the ingredients for three Skylab manned missions next year already are on the shelf.

However, beginning next year new economic life will be pumped into the industry's bloodstream as a dollar flow begins to finance the manned space shuttle program of the late 1970s.

More than $2 billion in shuttle project contracts already have been let by the federal space agency.

While the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has estimated the shuttle will cost up to $6 billion depending upon the rate of inflation, other experts have pegged the final price tag at close to $10 billion and critics have predicted it might parallel the cost of Apollo.

In the past, space agency officials have been reasonably silent about the post-Apollo years, leaving it to industry spokesmen to say that facilities like the Kennedy Space Center, Fla., would become virtual ghost towns during the hiatus leading up to shuttle flights in 1978.

Now, however, NASA is speaking out. For instance, Dr. Kurt Debus, Kennedy Space Center director, says it will be busy all next year with Skylab three-man crews flying in space for five of the 12 months.

The shuttle's first flight, Debus concedes, in 1974 and until mid-1975, when a joint U.S.-Russian space venture is scheduled.

After that there will be no more shuttle flights until missions into space until the shuttlecraft begin to fly in 1978.

But, Debus emphasizes, by the 1980s manned spaceships might be taking off from Cape Kennedy at the rate of one a week.

And during the 1970s there will be a continuing string of unmanned satellite launches and probes to the faraway planets.

Space agency officials now are putting new emphasis on making space work for society on earth through its satellites — improving global communications, weather prediction and control, monitoring earth's resources and developing new medical and manufacturing processes in space, unhampered by the pull of earth's gravity.

The aftermath of Apollo has dropped Kennedy Space Center payrolls from 26,000 in 1969, when the first two astronauts walked on the moon, to a present 11,000.

And it likely will slide to about 12,000 in the next two years. But that's scarcely a ghost town, Debus points out. Besides the 11,000 people will be required to maintain the space shuttle when it becomes operational, Debus predicts.

The center's working population is likely to level off at about that figure, he says, divided between agency employees and those of aerospace firms involved in the shuttle program.

New Athens Archeological Dig Yields New Facts in S. Illinois

By their pottery shall ye know them.

Ceramic fragments salvaged at the Marty Coolidge archaeological site near New Athens have yielded two important new pieces of Southern Illinois pre-history.

First, that this five-acre tract was occupied by three successive waves of Middle Woodland people (600 B.C. to 300 A.D.), and the second, that Mississippians occupied two-thirds of the tract off and on from around 900 A.D. to perhaps the 16th century.

A wrap-up research report on a three-month (1967, 1968) 1969 archaeological dig at the Marty Coolidge site has been issued by the Museum of Southern Illinois at Carbondale. Conducted by L. Carl Kutteruff, field archaeologist on the project, Kutteruff, now is on the faculty of Marmac College, St. Louis.

Initially, the first inhabitants of the site were mobile people (nomads who roamed from about 7,000 B.C. to 1,000 B.C.) but the only evidence of their presence is a few primitive projectile points.

Next came Early Woodlanders (1,000 to 400 B.C.) but relics of their camp are minimal — only a few potsherds. "Unless future excavations will expose a substantial component of either culture in these periods, then it is assumed that this site was the locus of only a very minor component of each of these cultures," Kutteruff wrote.

On the other hand, for the Late Woodlanders (400 to 900 A.D.), thousands of ceramic sherds turned up, indicating "a more or less continued occupation by small bands of groups over the span of 500 years, rather than a single occupation of a large community," Kutteruff wrote.

But the chief interest for archaeologists lies in the Middle Woodland and the Mississippian cultures because of the scarcity of previous information.

HITS STATION WAGON

The auto of Patricia Ryan, St. Ann, Mo., struck the park-and-station wagon of Gertrude Ashford, 1665 Second St., Madison, at 4:05 p.m. yesterday at 10th and Iowa streets in Madison.

CASH STOLEN CHECK

A man about 37 years of age cashed a stolen check for $140 at Victoria Tailor Shop, Edwardsville Road, Madison, it was reported at 2:05 p.m. yesterday. The check was drawn on a Henderson, Ky., bank.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

Page 18 Thurs., Apr. 5, 1973

of their existence in the Lower Kaskaskia region.

A total of 1,456 potsherds was scattered over the whole 5 1/3-acre site, Kutteruff pointed out. Of these 41 were identified as "elite" pottery, the first discovered in the Lower Kaskaskia region.

A somewhat larger number was catalogued as the earlier "hopewell" ceramics, derived from only six other Lower Kaskaskia sites.

One structure, indicated by an alignment of nine post-holes forming what might be part of a rectangular pattern, and some 31 pit features bolster the Middle Woodland evidence.

On the other hand, Mississippian evidence is plentiful. More than 600 Mississippian sherds were collected in an area of almost three acres, an area

"probably much larger than any of the other Mississippian sites reported in the interior of the Lower Kaskaskia Valley," Kutteruff said.

Tentatively the Marty Coolidge site is being considered something larger than a farming hamlet, which has been the usual identification of the other excavated Mississippian components in the Kaskaskia area."

Mississippian occupation also was represented by 10 or 12 parts of 18 houses, structures and related features. Four types of structures, thought to represent at least three major occupations, were found: rectangular post-hole structures, rectangular wall-trench structures, "L"-shaped structures, and square wall-trench structures. Fire basins and hearths also were found.

"In the Kaskaskia Valley similar structures (to the latest Mississippian period) have been reported from the Boulder site and the Coopland site, and are contemporaneous on the basis of pottery, and ceramic associations."

If this is correct, then the date of the latest Mississippian phase should range somewhere within the 15th and 16th centuries A.D.," he pointed out.

Pre-History

Deadline April 9 to Post Meat Signs

The Village Improvement Party offers reward...
The Village Improvement Party of Pontoon Beach today offered a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person damaging political signs of either party in the village. The reward offer followed the destruction of two People in Action Party signs last night.

Local C. Green, district director of Internal Revenue for Central and Southern Illinois, today reminded meat sellers that they have until April 9 to post a list of ceiling prices on all meat items. Ceiling ceilings are based on prices charged in the 30 days ending March 27.

The meat ceiling regulations, announced on March 29 by President Nixon, impose a ceiling on the price of meat and pork for an indefinite period. The regulations apply to all sales after slaughter except those made by retailers with annual sales of less than $10,000, and by restaurants to consumers, Green said.

Venice Regulates Placing of Trash In Alley Areas

An ordinance requiring property owners raising buildings to place trash beside alleys to be hauled from the scene was passed by the Venice City Council Tuesday night.

The ordinance was drafted at a city council meeting last week, property owners raising property had piled the debris in alleys. The aldermen agreed that the street department would, under certain conditions, haul the remains to a building away, but only if it is properly stacked near the alley.

The council asked William "Mike" Ebersold, city clerk, to notify the state highway department which would move the debris during the installation of new gas lines but were not replaced. Ebersold said he will ask them to replace the markers.

Edward Juncou, city consulting engineer of the Shepard, Morgan & Schwab engineering firm, reported the 4-F Environmental Impact Statement final draft is nearly complete. The document is required before Broadway can be relocated under the new viaduct in Venice.

Juncou also reported the state highway department has approved city plans to install drainage basin on Lincoln Alley and work should start next week.

Mayor John E. Lee thanked all the workers and volunteers from Venice who have been assisting residents of Chouteau Island in sandbagging and other operations to protect against the rising Mississippi River.

The city is among the few local communities which have responded to the emergency appeal for trucks, buses and workers on the endangered island.

Personnel was granted permission to have volunteers walk through the city as part of a "walkathon" for crippled children Sunday.

A building permit was granted for the erection of a split-level structure in front of 221 Kerr St. Venice.

The McKinley Bridge traffic report showed that 234,000 vehicles used the bridge in March, an average of 7,584 per day.

FOUR AUTO ACCIDENTS

Four cars were damaged when the auto of Larry Lilly, 1021 Grand Ave., Madison skidded on wet pavement into the rear of a car of Noni Manogian, 1225 Madison Ave., Madison, in front of the Manogian home at 6:50 p.m. Tuesday.

The Manogian vehicle was pushed into the parked car of William Curran, 1529 Twelfth St., Madison, which in turn struck the parked car of Lloyd Curran, 1101 Reynolds St., Madison.

BITTEN BY DOG

Ricky Wakeford, 13, of 1609 Second St., was bitten by a dog at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday while walking in the 1600 block of Third Street in Madison. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The dog was located and rabies precautions are being taken.

Worker Shocked When Pipe Hits Live Wire

A worker at Quality Sand Inc., 449 Highway 162, was injured in a freak accident at his job at 10:35 a.m. yesterday.

Richard Osgood, 31, of Lebanon, reportedly was carrying an iron pole and one end of the pole tipped up and struck a 4,400 volt electrical wire, breaking the shock and killing him.

The mishap caused a power failure for nearly all of Pontoon Beach for about 30 minutes. Osgood was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was examined and released.

Company officials said the power had grounded the majority of the electricity and Osgood received only a small portion of the shock.

GIRL REFUSES RIDE

A 14-year-old Venice Girl refused to ride at 3:25 p.m. Tuesday when her mother stopped her by Viola Jones Homes in Venice and asked her to go for a ride with him. He offered her money and she refused and ran from the scene, she said.

Pontoon Man Hurt Aiding Armed Bandit Victims of Bus Crash

A three-day skiing trip to Colorado turned into a nightmare Saturday for three business men, including Gary Eads, Apartment 4 of 493 Gaslight Walk, Pontoon Beach, and his wife, Chris.

Eads re-injured his left hand which was still healing from a previous accident. Another man helped him get free from the debris.

"It was a terrible sight. Some of the people were laying in the bus bleeding and screaming and some of them were laying outside."

"We were in a remote area and it took 45 minutes before anyone could get to us," Eads related.

Mrs. Sandra Rau, 35, of West Louis County, suffered a broken neck and died instantly. Five others in the party were flown by helicopter to a Denver hospital where they were admitted.

Among those were John Evans, 27, and his wife, Donna, 24, of Collinsville, friends of the Eads. He suffered a broken leg and she suffered a skull fracture and a broken leg.

Abraham, another passenger, suffered a severe head injury. He was treated Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital for injuries to his hand and released.

The Eads were on the second bus but had close friends in the first bus.

Eads climbed through a side window of the damaged vehicle to assist the injured passengers. While inside, a double deck tier of buses collapsed on him, pinning him in the vehicle. While attempting to free himself, Eads re-injured his left hand which was still healing from a previous accident. Another man helped him get free from the debris.

800 Illinois Women Educators to Convene

Note novelist and lecturer Mrs. Elizabeth Janeway will be the featured speaker at the Lambda State's 38th annual convention of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society which starts Friday at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn in St. Louis.

About 800 professional women educators from the society's 30 chapters in Illinois are expected to take part in the three-day conference.

Members of Beta Eta Chapter, a Quad-City area affiliate, are among those taking a leadership role in the convention arrangements.

Mrs. Josephine O'Neill, a Beta Eta member and a sixth grade teacher at Columbus Elementary School, is recording secretary nominee.

She is among the candidates listed on a slate of officers headed by Miss Wilma Nuttal, head of the Foreign Language Department at Robinson (Ill.) High School where she also teaches Latin and enriched algebra proposed for election at the convention.

In keeping with the convention theme—"Meet Me in St. Louis"—a combination of Beta Eta Chapter under the direction of Mrs. Valerie Stevens of Granite City, president, will host "Showboat Days," a mini-musical review and minstrel show.

Mrs. Stevens, who is vocal music director for the Madison schools, said a highlight of the "showboat revue" will be the appearance of the Tammaritzan Showgirls, a local group of young girls who dress in costume depicting their Slavic descent and play authentic folk instruments.

Both Parties Hit By Indictments

By AL MANNING
Copley News Service

Springfield — State Rep. William Cox, of Charleston, ushered into the spotlight by the Illinois House Service and Justice Department, fits the political bill for the prosecutors.

In order to avoid any charges of partisanship, the Republican prosecutors did not indict either of their own. They did.

Cox is a prominent Republican, one of 10 GOP legislators holding a leadership position in the General Assembly, and he is not on trial.

But a Democrat been indicted next, that side of the aisle would have screamed even louder that the prosecutors were partisans. The most recent Democrat to be tried in court, Bernard Neinstein and Jerry Corbett, were Democrats.

The late Everett Peters died before he could be tried. Of course, the most prominent Democrat to be convicted lately were former Cook County Clerk Edward Barrett, former Revenue Director Theodore Isaacs and former Gov. Otto Kerner Jr.

When Cox learned the tax men were on his trail, he resigned as GOP chairman of Coles County and offered to resign as a majority whip in the Senate, privately that he would not be seeking another term in the legislature.

A former major league pitcher, his baseball record is rather poor to understand. During his career, he won two and lost nine and was wild on the mound—he walked 74 men in 116 innings.

Although he was a pitcher in the big league, the government says he was a catcher in the legislature. They say he caught 90% of the illegal expense money he allegedly ordered the state to pay to Pauline Monier, of Chicago.

If Cox is convicted on the income tax evasion charges, he will not necessarily have to forfeit his seat in the House. Representatives decide their own fates and it would take two-thirds vote to remove him.

Barrett forfeited his county office upon conviction.

Virtually no one in the Capitol expects the indictments to stop with Cox. Of the 236 legislators, it would be surprising if Cox were the only one to be accused of stepping out of line.

U. S. Atty. Donald Manz's announcement of the indictment came exactly two weeks after this column pointed out that Victor Woerheide was in town going over the expense account.

Woerheide, the Justice Department assistant who aided in the Kerner conviction, was also credited in this indictment.

FBI Agent Speaker At GC Rotary Meet

Berry Donaldson, a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was guest speaker at the Granite City Rotary Club luncheon meeting Tuesday at the YMCA.

He is one of 110 agents who work out of the Springfield, Ill., office and has served 11 years with the bureau. A graduate of the University of Colorado, Donaldson was assigned to this area two years. He recently returned from duty at Wounded Knee, S. Dak.

In his talk, the speaker outlined the responsibility of the FBI in connection with other federal agencies in relation to firearms, tobacco and alcohol, the CIA and the Secret Service.

With the airlines tightening restrictions to eliminate high-jacking, bank robberies have increased by 20%, Donaldson said. There have been a rash of stolen government bonds, securities and travel checks in recent months, he added.

In conjunction with entry into the service, Donaldson said that the age limit is 21. He sees years ahead of him having college degrees and a background in administrative areas.

Earl Dotzauer was program chairman and Richard West, president, conducted the meeting.

West announced the April 17 meeting has been canceled in lieu of the annual Maundy Thursday services for service club members on April 19 at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Comment and Analysis

April 5, 1973

MINUTES AFTER VICTORY in Tuesday's Granite City mayor election, Alderman Paul Schuler is shown speaking to friends who had gathered to honor him. The victory party took place at the 300 Room. He was elected by a wide margin to serve as mayor for the four-year term beginning May 1.

Mayor-Elect Paul Schuler and Other City-Township Officials Boasted by Big Reservoir of Public Confidence, Good Wishes

The new leadership and new direction for Granite City which many people have desired was achieved with Tuesday's election.

In addition to returning to office three capable city-township officials, Assessor Von De Ceuse, Treasurer Paul Rutledge and City Clerk Robert Stevens, the public returned to the City Council five experienced aldermen: William Dallas, Frank Greenwald, Roy Poulos, R. E. Robertson and Steve Basarich of the First through the Fifth Wards.

Serving with them will be a brand-new mayor, Paul Schuler, who won in a landslide, and two highly-respected new aldermen, Earl Baker of the Sixth Ward and Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward, plus the seven hold-over council members.

Also new will be a totally different City Hall climate in which constructive, honorable cooperation and coordination will be emphasized.

Close Competition as Citizens' Labor Party and Truth in Action Party Capture Chouteau and Nameoki Township Offices This Week

Congratulations are in order for the Citizens' Labor Party, which swept all eight offices in Chouteau Township balloting Tuesday, and the Truth in Action Party, which captured all seven offices decided in Nameoki Township.

Congratulations also go to the voters of the two townships, who turned out in large numbers. That all the Nameoki and Chouteau results were by relatively small margins shows that voters of all persuasions had considerable interest in the election and took the trouble to compare the candidates and the issues.

In Chouteau, a ticket which included seven incumbent township officials polled 1,104 to 1,354-vote totals, while a group nominated at the Democratic Party caucus also ran a respectable race, finishing with tallies ranging from 825 to 1,008.

Nameoki Township competition attracted an even larger turnout Tuesday, with totals varying from 1,358 to 1,433 for a ticket which included three incumbents. The Honesty and Integrity Party received 1,112 to 1,160; this slate included one former township trustee.

If citizen interest continues at such a high level, it will aid these officials and other township officers in becoming aware of and responding to the needs and wishes of the taxpaying electorate.

This kind of interaction will be particularly important in the Madison County government and four local townships proceed with their joint program to provide a better service to all areas not currently served.

50 Years Ago Strict Quarantine for Measles

APRIL 5, 1923

Because of the epidemic of measles here, Dr. J. J. Fitzgerald, city physician, today said that in all cases where signs of the malady appear, a doctor should be immediately summoned. There are severe penalties for those failing to observe quarantine regulations. Children in families where measles exist must not be sent to school.

25 Years Ago Daylight Saving Time Approved

APRIL 5, 1948

Daylight saving time, an ordinance prohibiting "walkathons" and a pinball licensing law with two amendments were adopted by the Granite City Council. Granite Cityans along with residents of surrounding communities will observe daylight saving time this summer and push their clocks ahead one hour at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of April.

THOUGHTS NOT KILL
APPLIED TO THE UNBORN
To the Editor:

I am a woman. It matters not my religion, age or race. I am a woman!

I am not a woman's "in."

I am a woman: the mother of four children! If there are women who want to be mothers, let them do it. Let us, the bachelors, the bachelorettes, the airline pilot, join the Army, or even aspire to the Presidency, that's fine with me. Why waste these talents?

I have aspired to raise these four children with love of God, respect, manners; in with my busy life of housework, gardening, hobbies and a part-time job.

The Supreme Court has written some 50 pages concerning their ruling on abortion. I could probably write some 50 pages or more to express my views as a woman and a mother.

They claim the fetus is not a person with constitutional rights to life, for it is not "viable" - unable to live outside the womb, in other words, a "parent." Were the statisticians to figure, we would be amazed to learn how many people we lose through crime and violence; something, which if not is "self-taught," can easily be duplicated from a lot of movies, and yet, even some of our TV shows.

I'm sure I could give many more examples of ways both God and man have to control population.

Let a man or woman use their constitutional rights to violate their own body by undergoing surgery or procedure to prevent conception. There are so many artificial means available which might help prevent the start of the life of an unwanted child-and abortion.

I will not argue against these rights.

I'm also, down through the ages, in all areas of the world, from the most primitive to the most civilized society, that contraception is a method of birth control in some way or another, and always will be. But we are still sending people to the gas chamber or electric chair for murder.

We have to live by rules and laws from childhood on. If a boy or girl, man or woman wants to get into this particular "game" of life, then they must be prepared to either win or lose.

When they consent to the act that could result in pregnancy, within a matter of hours, their eggs, once used, have already been multiplied and grown just as the seeds of corn open in the ground to begin its growth to maturity.

If a woman were to decide she did not need one of her eggs, and she wanted to be sterile, then this too, legal, because she has her rights? Would she take the risk?

As I recall my pregnancies, about the third month I began to enlarge, and multiply later for the sake of my fetus.

The seeds had not withered and died; where there is growth, there has to be life.

The corn that I serve on my table, the loaf of bread made from the flour grown in the fields—if this seedlings are pulled out by their root at the beginning of development, they could not possibly survive to mature or bear fruit and me.

It is too, a parasite, for it draws its nourishment from the ground in which it has taken root.

And surely, as the seed began to grow, life started there, as it does in the uterus of a woman. The world is full of women unable to bear a child, whose arms must aches to hold one. So what do they intend going out the door?

We are murdering them. Why? Genius? Yes. Greed? Yes. Convenience? Yes. An unhappy marriage? Yes. A woman who likes being a mother? Yes. We have so many "righteous" reasons.

Who could afford a vacation if a new baby came? Who can afford to pay for a color TV or back yard swimming pool? Mom might have to give up her job and that would cut the family income.

And to the unwed mother—a feeling of isolation, depression and fear of her family? Her inability to work and support herself?

Oh yes, but the baby she might carry to term could bring years of happiness with it, and adoption, finding a home and relatives of ours have done. I am not condoning her predicament, but I hope God blesses the unwed mother who does not have a child.

Will we take advantage of this legalized? Not so much the poorer class; they can get ADC if they have their baby.

It will be the middle class, who feel as usual, people who don't want a child to come into their lives or careers or to stop their education.

In years to come, what will be the status of these women, when they look back on what they've done?

The issue now is not about over-population; for God's plan is wise and seems to fit us perfectly. It is a person's lack of knowledge of God's plan that creates the problem.

"The world groans under the weight of its mistakes." Jesus started with 12 apostles to spread the Christian faith.

Now he who speaks who are not afraid to speak on our behalf—where are we?

"The flags were out on Main Street and I remarked to my companion, 'Well, here we are in Edwardsville, a collection of light opera and chamber music which he brought to this country in 1923.'

In 1923, Father E. J. Eckhard

of St. Boniface Church in Edwardsville went to Germany to select an organist for his church. He chose Schaefer.

"On that occasion he (Father Eckhard) visited me in my studio," Autenrieb recalls. "I was working on a large painting of the crucifixion for a church. He asked me if I wanted to go to America to finish his church.

"Since Germany was in the midst of a runaway inflation, I said yes, after some hesitation. Thanks to SIUE, we have the pleasure of good music again."

Vertical Landfill Tried in Chicago, Virginia Beach

Copley News Service
Springfield — Skating on the garbage dump, anyone?

At least, how about some sledding on the solid leavings? That may be done Saturday in a former prairie in DuPage County one of these days, but it all depends on how—quite literally—the project holds water.

The idea isn't new. A federal demonstration project in a park area and amphitheater near Virginia Beach, Va., some time ago, and it has worked out well.

The Chicago Metropolis Sanitary District proposed building a hill of refuse 1,000 feet high near Chicago, but the proposal was scaled down by about half with the federal Environmental Protection Agency wouldn't approve.

The DuPage County operation has been in effect for two to three years and is just starting. Larry Hardin, of the solid waste disposal section of the Illinois Institute for Environmental Quality, said the problem will be to see if the item can be used as a stable, and if it is going to contribute to pollution of nearby ground or surface waters.

To find out what's going on down inside the hill, which stands roughly 300 feet high, the IIEQ has spent $5,200 to dig one deep hole down the center of the mound, and a number of smaller holes around the perimeter.

Through these, over the next month of numbers, Dr. George Hughes of the Illinois State Geological Survey will measure water amounts and quality.

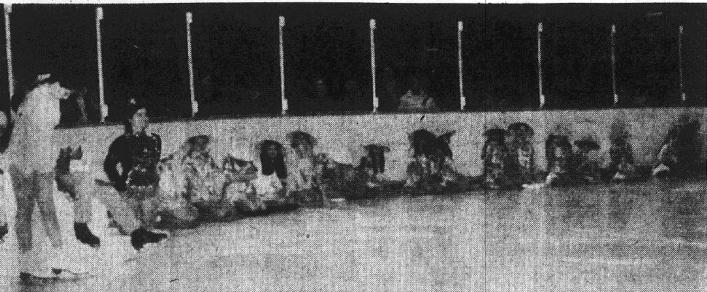

In effect, Hardin said, the "mountain" (which isn't a mountain at all and obviously would not be suitable for kids to slide down) can be used on slides when snow-covered, is just a vertical ladder.

The same process of spreading solid waste, and then compacting it under pressure, is followed.

In ordinary landfills, the project lies flat. In the "ski mountain" or "garbage mountain" concept, it is piled up.

At completion, it is covered over with a two-foot thickness of soil.

The soil cover was dredged up nearby, creating a group of small ponds and lakes. One of

State Makes Sure Roads Not Rough -Or Too Smooth

By JOAN MURRAY
Copley News Service

Springfield—You can't shake the feeling that the state Department of Transportation in Illinois works in a devious way to its wonders to achieve.

Like they designed and built a special machine just to tell them that roads are really good and smooth.

Then: they acquire another machine to tell them if roads are too smooth, so they can rough them up again.

All this time, while all getting roads through the state in a condition so motorists can safely and comfortably travel at speeds like 60 to 70 miles an hour.

So they tow a device all over the state which only works at 20 miles an hour. In traffic. Even on freeways.

If it all sounds like a terrible case of bureaucratic boondoggling, it isn't. It's just smoothness recorder, a little gimmick which has one, two, three or five wheels—depending on your point of view—which, when doing at the minute—was designed years ago by department personnel to measure the inches a car travels up and down in bumps over a one-mile stretch.

Too many ups and downs and the road isn't smooth enough. That means, if it's brand new, it's unacceptable and the contractor has to polish it off (that's never happened). If it's an old road, it needs repair. (That happens.)

The skid test trailer, on the other hand, is used to guarantee that motorists don't suffer from too much of a ride. There are more smoothness need than they really need or can handle on curves and other highway areas, particularly after a rain.

So while the little bright orange smoothness recorder is never used in rainy or otherwise wet weather and doesn't even get out of its garage if the temperature is below 40°, the speedster big bright orange skid test trailer is specially geared to spray water in front of its own wheels so it can have a nice wet road even in a dry rain.

Either one or both of its wheels can be locked while it travels at 40 miles an hour, and the resulting skid is measured automatically and taken up from the track which towed it.

If the skid registers too high, the surface may be roughed up with another special machine. Or it may have little grooves cut in it so the car can run off the surface.

Or, more likely, it may have a whole new coat of surface applied, using a somewhat different aggregate which is likely to polish the dangerous stickiness.

For a number of obvious reasons, all data is compiled in the towing vehicle in both cases—there seem to be few people who want to ride an open sled being thrown into 40 mph winds. And motorists with monotonous

FAMILY PROJECT. Members of the Robert Brown family, 3741 Sunnyside Drive, were among 75 volunteers who filled sandbags earlier this week at the Chouteau Island area. Linda, 14, a Grigsby Junior High School 7th grade pupil, is at left next to an unidentified SIUE student. Her father, Robert Brown, center, an employee of Granite Sheet Metal Works, holds the container while Dean Brown, 15, a Grigsby 9th grader, wields the shovel. Mrs. Sadie Brown, who aided Red Cross workers at an emergency feeding station, was the photographer.

nous frequency, fall to zero. The first is the feel of the smoothness indicator. Traveling at something more than 20 mph, they try to occupy the same space at the same time, with predictable results. Repairs have sometimes been expensive.

To avoid this problem in the future, a new, much faster and more efficient recorder is now being called.

Like the two now in service, it is the brainchild of Robert Wagner of the Transportation Department. When finished, the new one will print out its results automatically on bands of graph paper, and it will be able to whiz along the roads at 60 to 70 miles an hour.

Don Schaefer, engineer of physical research in the department, expects it to prove invaluable, particularly for freeway work where in the past—even though the testing was done at the highest speeds—accuracy usually was necessary to have a big highway track trailing the little trailer for protection.

Drivers, even inattentive or inept, are less likely to run into large trucks traveling at 20 mph.

Until it goes into service, and even afterward on the less heavily trafficked roads, George Babcock and his driver will continue trudging the miles between cities across the state on its smooth trip, up one wheel path and back the other, over a mile stretch at a time, at 20 miles an hour.

State Income Tax Funds Distributed

Gov. John W. Wallace has announced the distribution of $11,084,338 to Illinois counties and municipalities as their share of state income tax collections for April.

Contributions received $90,444,159 and $1,615,187 went to counties, the governor said.

The income tax law requires distribution to these units of local government of one-twelfth the amount of proceeds of the income on a monthly basis.

The allotment to Madison County for unincorporated areas totaled $7,415. Granite City received $40,485. Other area allocations were $1,707 to Madison, $4,656 to Vandalia and $2,455 to Pontoon Beach.

The distribution is made on a per capita basis to municipalities, townships and incorporated territories on the basis of the county population in unincorporated territories. The Department of Local Government Affairs handles distribution of the funds.

Thus far, in the fiscal year which began July 1, 1972, $86,293,061.34 has been distributed to local governments. The total paid during the previous fiscal year was $84,345,277.77. Wallace said.

Imagination Aids Family in Restoring Older Residence

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Restoration of older homes is not a completely new undertaking in this area, but it has gained momentum in the last few years as young families find more feasible to remodel a house than has unlimited possibilities—and room to grow in—than build or purchase a new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack French took a 65-year-old house with large rooms and space to fit their needs, to provide a home for their family of five children at 2250 Cleveland Blvd.

Their children are Bradford, 14, Matthew, 13, Neil, 11, Phillip, 9, and Cecilia 7.

To begin the overall renovation project, Mr. and Mrs. French started with interior painting. Federal gold colored siding on the outside of the house, accenting it with charcoal gray shutters. They are in the process of interior refurbishing, one room at a time. Light blue and green tones that suggest an entrance foyer and is carried through the living room to the right of the hall, one of their first major jobs.

In the living room, extensive work has been done by steaming off the old wallpaper and replacing it with Dresden blue wall covering on three walls and a blue and gold effect on each side of the fireplace.

They extended the wall above the fireplace mantle with artificial bricks to express the warmth and dignity of the early American heritage without changing the architecture of the room.

Whenever possible, families engaged in remodeling homes find they can use the existing substantial walls, cabinets and trim and cut costs of replacement.

This proved to be a good idea in the kitchen, where Mr. and Mrs. French retained the original cabinets. They concluded the cabinets were in excellent condition.

They painted them white to accent the blue tile of the walls and complement a novelty floor tile of blue and green in a symmetrical design.

Using the cool and refreshing color scheme, they painted the round table and high backed chairs in a bright apple green.

On the second floor of the house—besides the foyer, living room and kitchen—has an extra large dining room furnished with an old dining room suite that can seat the entire family. It will be refinished with work completed in the room.

A small room directly behind the dining room is now only a quiet place for reading and holds a few old "finds," such as a book. Mr. French can't leave off embellishing it to rest directly on the floor, and painted it with a Pennsylvania Dutch design.

An essential approach to a home renovation plan involving redecorating every room, in their opinion, is to use both paint and wallpaper and to search for pieces of furniture in secondhand shops or at sales. Such furniture can be converted for use sometimes very different than the original intent.

The girls' bedroom of the French home is appropriately done in a candy pink wallpaper and all furniture is painted white to coordinate with a braid rug.

Two chiffoners were redone to give the girls more bureau and storage space and to create an interesting focal wall; they are used with open bookshelves.

A blue and white theme was carried out in the master bedroom to harmonize with the other finished rooms.

Here Mr. and Mrs. French used antique white paneling for the lower portion of the walls and a blue textured sand paint for the upper walls and ceilings.

An enameled carpet in a mixture of blues and greens completes the overall decor.

An old-fashioned spindle-type bedstead is attractively covered with a bright multi-colored floral spread, to blend into the cheerful but restful color scheme.

To replace an old suspended type of light fixture, they selected a Tiffany light shade made of white veined glass suspended from the wall and ceiling with a large gold chain.

The remaining two bedrooms to be used by the boys are at a halfway point, with only all white wallpaper removed from the walls of one bedroom and arched doorway closed to give more wall space and privacy.

Book shelves are used to cover one opening and a large bulletin board replaces the other doorway.

Imagination is one of the greatest assets in such remodeling, the family believes.

The master bedroom is not limited by its present use or appearance, but instead to use a decor adaptable to a child, family or adult.

Mrs. French is a qualified painter and artist herself, is employed by the government, is an artist. As a hobby, he paints highly-regarded works in oils.

Together, aided by sensitivity to color and design and expressive ideas, they are combining their talents to provide a more beautiful and spacious home than normally can be found.

Calvo Proposes $5,000 Homestead Exemption

State Rep. Horace L. Calvo (D-Glenwood City) is sponsoring legislation in the House to increase real property tax exemptions for the elderly from $1,500 to $5,000.

His bill would make disabled people eligible for the $5,000 "homestead exemption."

"The exemption would mean tax relief of $300 for a homeowner whose real estate is valued at $5,000 or more," Calvo said. (Based on a statewide average assessment of roughly $6 per hundred dollars valuation.)

Calvo explained that his plan would replace a complicated "circuit breaker" tax relief plan, which would be repealed.

"The circuit breaker concept requires elderly and disabled homeowners to pay their real estate taxes and then apply to the state for a partial rebate based on a complex formula," Calvo said.

"My bill would cut out all this work and make tax relief easier and disabled people more direct."

Calvo's bill also provides state reimbursement for part of the money local taxing districts would lose because of the homestead exemption.

"Local taxing districts would receive 80% of the difference between what they actually collect and what they would have collected if the exemption were not in effect," Calvo said.

"This provision faces up to the fact that we must still finance the services our school districts, cities, park districts and other local units of government provide."

The tax relief Calvo is proposing would first affect taxes payable in 1974.

Many County Party Leaders Still Holding State Jobs

Copely News Service

Springfield — Although Gov. Dan Walker is the one with the rule against a county chairman holding a state job under his jurisdiction, two other elected state officials don't have a party chairman working for them.

Neither Treasurer Alan Dixon nor Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan has a county chairman in his employ. The catch, of course, Dixon has only 93 people working for him and Hartigan none.

Walker, who has not yet purged all of the chairman off the payrolls, has thousands of jobs to which his rule applies. Three chairs remain that have been assigned their posts prior to 1970 for the governor and a few more would like to.

A check with the various state offices of the Dept. of Public Instruction, Michael Bakalis, the most county chairman—12.

The men and the county they represent are: William Neff, Cass; Earl Turner, Clark; Bill Cherry, Franklin; John Williams, Fulton; Paul Trotter, Hamilton; Edward "Bud" Hornick, Livingston; Paul Williams, Marion; Edward Akin, Mason; Carl Harmon, McHenry; Charles Morrison, Morgan; Harry F. Delano, Putnam; Union; and Ray Harrell, Wayne. Since Bakalis campaigned on a theme of taking politics out of the office, it might surprise some that he has the most chairmen on the payroll.

One reason is that he has more jobs to dispense than does any other officeholder except Secretary of State Michael Howlett.

Howlett's personnel are in a quandary over the Personnel Code laws so he might end up with as many or more when they get settled.

Those employed by Howlett include: Tom Owens, Sangamon; John Gianulis, Rock Island; Eddie Safford, Macoupin; C. Ray Chancy, Macon; and George Hollenshee, Cumberland.

On the Republican side, Atty. Gen. William Scott employs three men in his office: Roger B. Buechner, Clinton; and Ima Jean Mason, Menard. In addition, he has a few others, such as John Meyer of Clay County, who are attorney employed on a part-time basis.

The newest Republican officeholder, Comptroller George Lindberg, has employed Charles Hamm, of Ford County, and Steven Ostendorf, of Wabash County.

One veteran politician, who thought four county chairmen worked for his boss, said that is good government, but could also tell the chairman they were being "taken care" while at the same time it was not too high to get the public aroused.

Agricultural Department Plans 'Farmers' Hotline'

A telephone "Farmers' Hotline," has been initiated by the Illinois Department of Agriculture to give quick attention to farmers pressing problems.

The "Hotline," telephone number 217-525-2444, will be used by farmers who will connect the farmer with the office of the director of agriculture.

A special staff of experts has been directed by Acting Director of Agriculture, James Williams, to give prompt attention to any farmer who has problems, no matter how large or small, created by land acquisition, the fuel shortage, transportation delays, railcar tie-ups or other causes.

In announcing the new service, Williams stated: "This, hopefully, will restore good faith in state government, once again giving people the chance to have a voice now we can solve our problems."

"Too many times in the past, a farmer has turned to his government for attention to a pressing problem, only to be passed from agency to agency without anything being accomplished."

"This will not happen at the Department of Agriculture. The telephone call will give the farmer immediate attention and the best answer possible to his problem."

Persons wishing to write to the department are asked to do so directly. They may address their questions or outline their problem in detail by writing to: Farmers' Hotline, Illinois Department of Agriculture, General Office, State Fairgrounds, Springfield, Ill., 62706.

Consider Candidacy

A PRESS-RECORD CLASSIFIED AD BRINGS RESULTS

Thin Alfalfa Stand Not Helped by New Seeding

By WARREN W. BUNDY
U. of I. Extension Adviser

Alternate freezing and thawing of wet soil last winter resulted in much heaving and some winter kill of alfalfa in Madison County and throughout Illinois.

Several farmers have asked whether thin stands of alfalfa or clover can be improved by broadcasting alfalfa or clover seed on such fields to thicken the stand.

That practice nearly always results in failure and is not recommended. The new seedings cannot survive competition from established plants.

Some alfalfa fields with thin stands will be plowed and planted to soybeans or corn after a crop of hay is harvested about mid-May. Then other plants will be sown to supply a hay supply for next winter.

New alfalfa seedings can be made this spring—the earlier, the better. With favorable weather conditions and adequate fertility, alfalfa seeded now on a clean seedbed and without a companion crop may yield about three tons of hay per acre this year.

The beginning of corn planting here is only three weeks from now, so go ahead and plant. Soil temperature also serves as a guide for April planting. Plant corn when the soil temperature reaches 7 am. degrees at the 2-inch depth, and when the temperature reaches 55 degrees at the 4-inch depth.

Agromonts advise starting corn planting as early as April 10 to 15 in this area.

Yields will be higher the earlier you plant, as early as possible. In addition, the plants will be smaller, ears lower, and more uniform in height.

But farmers have weather to contend with and a lot of acres to prepare for planting. Often a new planter can be early in addition, permit, regardless of what anyone says about planting dates.

Soybeans should be planted in May. Unlike corn, soybeans will not survive severe frost damage.

The full-season soybean varieties when planting is delayed until late May is minor as compared to the grain this fall.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Apr. 5, 1973 Page 5

pared with the penalty for planting corn late.

So the early planting goes on after the corn acreage has been planted is an accepted and wise practice.

The loss, in yield of soybeans becomes more severe when planting is delayed past early May.

The high cost of soybean seed and seed-quality problems in some seed have caused farmers to be more interested than usual in growing soybeans.

A planting rate that results in 10 to 12 plants per foot of row at harvest in 40-inch rows, 6 to 8 plants in 30-inch rows, 4 to 6 plants in 36-inch rows, or 4 to 5 plants in 40-inch rows will provide maximum yield for May and very early June planting.

Higher populations usually result in excessive lodging. Small populations result in field losses and places branch more and pod lower. This contributes to greater harvesting losses.

Populations should be increased by 50 to 100 percent for late June or early July plantings.

As farmers make their production plans, they also must plan how to condition and store the grain this fall.

Three-Year Degree Program at Fontbonne

Fontbonne College will offer a unique three-year program for students majoring in a department in the Division of Humanities and Sciences (RHS) beginning in September, 1974. Sister Jane Hassett, president of the college, announced today.

The Fontbonne faculty voted to establish immediately a Division of Humanities and Sciences. Students will still major in English, foreign languages, life sciences, mathematics, social studies, theatre or creative writing, music or art, among others," affirms the college's commitment to the liberal arts," Sister Jane said.

In addition to the option of a three-year program, the new Division will also offer a program of basic studies courses in the humanities and sciences. The basic studies course will minimize the time required to change. Sister Stephanie Steuber, professor of English and director of the division said, "Courses beyond the major and the basic studies may be chosen from the Division or from the college departments outside the Division."

The DHS three-year program will allow students to admission into graduate school and a master's degree in four years. Sister Stephanie said, "It also gives the opportunity for apprenticeship and additional experience after the baccalaureate degree but prior to full career entrance."

III. Senate Leader Partee Plays Difficult Role Well

Walker Test--Can A Businessman Be A Good Governor?

Copley News Service
Springfield — There's a new "man in the middle" at the Statehouse.

He's Democratic Senate Leader J. A. Partee of Chicago. Few Chicagoans have been on hotter spot since Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern.

Partee has the unenviable job of trying to keep peace between Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and Gov. Dan Walker.

Partee promptly threw his considerable influence into the overture.

As Senate floor leader, he is obligated by tradition to support the governor of his own party.

To oppose him on the CTA issue or a pension decrease, and Partee's floor speech reflected this.

He attempted to blame those around Walker for the imbroglio.

Partee means no names, everyone knew who he meant — Victor DeGrazia, Walker's deputy governor and top aide.

DeGrazia's interference is not
